TOBACCO CONVENTION.

Lappin's Hall Crowded With Men Interested in Tobacco Industry.

The Convention Organized by the Election of Hon. Clinton Babbitt, President.

Mr. Chas. Burnham, of Edgerton, Secretary—The List of Vice Presidents.

The Convention in Session at 10 o'clock.

Lappin's hall is crowded this afternoon with a large attendance of representative tobacco men.

The convention was called to order by Capt. Piny Norcross, president of the Business Men's association. He stated, in a few sentences, the object of the convention.

Hon. Clinton Babbitt, secretary of the state agricultural society, was elected chairman and Mr. Chas. Burnham, of Edgerton, secretary. Capt. Piny Norcross was elected president and Mr. Milo Jones, of Jefferson, 2d vice president. Hon. B. C. Adams, of Dane, 3d vice president. Mr. L. B. Carle, of Rock, as treasurer, and Mr. Blevi Kittleson, of Dane, was elected assistant secretary.

The regular order of business was then taken up after the call had been read by Secretary Burnham. Hon. E. N. Phelps, president of the Eastern Tobacco Growers association, is addressing the meeting as we go to press.

Notes.

—The militia companies meet this evening.

—Regular convocation of Janesville Chapter No. 5, K. A. M., this evening at Masonic hall.

—The Odd Fellows and their families will hold a social re-union at Odd Fellows hall to-morrow evening.

—The Rev. W. A. Evans, of the Rock River (Illinois) conference, will occupy the pulpit of Court Street M. E. Church next Sunday, morning and evening.

—Mr. Bonner arrived this afternoon, and is now unpacking his pictures at Heimstret's, where they will be on exhibition and sale for three days. Don't fail to call in and see them.

—The Indian clubs for the high school gymnasium class are now in the hands of the young athletes and exhibitions of skill will soon be in order. Mr. Frank Jackson is drilling the club swimmers, and he is thoroughly understanding this as well as all the other branches under his charge.

—Residents of the second ward will find a petition favoring water-works at the grocery store of Mr. I. O. Brownell, North Main street, and one at the jewelry store of F. C. Cook & Co., opposite the postoffice. Second ward residents are requested to step in at these places and express their opinions.

—The "Girls' social club" rooms will be opened at 7:30 o'clock this evening. The public are invited to call and see the pleasant room which have been furnished for the girls of the city. The enterprise merits the hearty support of all good people. The rooms are located in the first ward, at the corner of Madison and Academy streets.

—Many of the most prominent men in this part of the state are present at the tobacco convention to day, among them are Hon. L. B. Caswell, State Senator S. L. Lord, Congressman LaFollette, of the Third district and Clinton Babbitt, of the State Agricultural Society. Many other well known gentlemen are in attendance, but as most of them came in on the last few trains it is almost impossible to give a complete list of the names.

—Oscar Wilde, of the old world, and John L. Sullivan, of the new, have educated the public mind so that it appreciates the beautiful in any form, and since the advent of these reformers many changes have been made tending toward the esthetic. The latest is in paste cards, and now the result is seen in the great demand for this class of stationery. Many towns are unimproved, and an order from the Janesville office, which was filed nearly two months ago, is as yet unfilled.

—Lida Gardner's female mastodon appeared at Lappin's music hall last evening. The audience was quite large—being wholly composed of men and boys. The show possessed but little to be commended and much to be condemned. Billy Arnold played the tambourine—two of them—admirably. Lida Gardner skipped the rope in a most athletic manner. Lou F. Swan sang several songs with a good baritone voice, and Alice Gilmore rendered two or three songs with a robust Eiberman voice and accent which were refreshing, especially to the gallery gods. The rest of the specialty work possessed but little merit—while the "gags" and "jokes" were either stale or too vulgar to be repeated at a public exhibition. They have left the city, and it is hoped, will not soon return.

—This morning at nine o'clock St. Patrick's church was crowded to the door with people anxious to witness the ceremonies in the assumption of the veil by several young ladies. There were five candidates, three for the black veil and two for the white. Rev. Father Kelley, of Footville, preached the sermon which was very eloquent. Rev. Father McGinnity celebrated high mass and two others assisted him as deacon and sub deacon. Mrs. J. W. St. John assisted the regular choir, while Mrs. J. W. Buntiff accompanied them on the organ. The service was a very impressive and beautiful one. This noon a reception was held at the convent by the Sisters of St. Mary into whose order these young ladies have to-day been admitted. Elegant refreshments were served to their visitors and the affair which was in honor of the new sisters was very brilliant.

WATER WORKS.

A Few Suggestions Concerning the Questions About to be Canvassed.

A Concert of Action Necessary to Decide the Matter.

The following is a copy of the petition now in the hands of ward committees for circulation among the tax payers the object being to enable the common council to determine as to the wishes of our property owners regarding a water supply for the city:

To the Honorable Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville:

The undersigned voters in the city of Janesville, Wisconsin, respectfully request that you will provide this city with water works. We are willing that the works so built shall be constructed by private enterprise, provided that this city has the right to purchase them.

It may be well for our readers to consider that the resolution embodied in the petition received the unanimous endorsement of the Business Men's Association at their meeting last Monday evening, and that the same meeting by a vote of forty-six to nine, favored water works by a private company. It has been very considerably suggested, that all the business talent of the city is not represented in the Business Men's Association. True beyond question, and yet the fact remains that a very large percentage of the members are liberal tax payers.

The petitions are being circulated to decide whether the business men in their action reflect public sentiment. The last clause of the petition should induce every man to sign it, even though his personal preference may be in favor of the city constructing the works. The main question to be considered, is whether we will or will not have water works. The petition does not commit us to any particular proposition and it is safe to assume that the council, if called upon to act will not accept a proposition that is detrimental to the city. The Goodhue & Birney plan, which has been published in detail, and freely discussed, possesses many strong features to recommend it, and is without doubt the most favorable proposition received, but it does not follow that this proposition would meet all the requirements which the city might demand of any private company who should be given the contract to furnish the city with a water supply system. The source of supply, whether it be an artesian well, Spring brook, or some other locality, is one of several important questions to be determined. But the matter to be decided first is, do we want water works, and if so, are we willing to have them built on satisfactory terms by a private company, with the privilege of buying them at any time after completion.

The Gazette is of the opinion that a large majority of our tax-payers are in favor of water works, and also believe that the opportune time has come to take decisive action in the matter. Let us come to the front, and place our city among the list of wide-awake go-ahead towns, for which the west is noted. We want more people in our city, and inasmuch as water is becoming a popular drink, let us place the city in a position to enjoy the beverage and reap the benefits of protection from fire which alone is furnished by a good water supply system.

—Miss Stella F. Sabra, the optician, returned from Monroe last evening, and will go to Rockford in a day or two. Her work in Monroe has been very successful and she has already established in southern Wisconsin, an enviable reputation as a thorough and skillful optician. The people of Rockford will appreciate her services.

Natural History Students.

Prof. Leo Lesquereux, of the United States Geological Survey, has awakened quite an interest in natural history during his brief stay. With the assistance of Professor Keyes, a chapter of the Agassiz association has been formed, with over seventy members—an unusually large number. The officers elected are:

President—Harry Carle.

Vice President—Miss Maud Williams.

Secretary—Miss Louise Conover.

Treasurer—Prof. C. H. Keyes.

The chapter has been promised a collection of fossils and a number of reference books by Prof. Lesquereux, and if the interest shown in it thus far holds out, it will be very successful.

DEAR FRIENDS AT HOME.

The California Excursion Party Arrive Safe at Los Angeles.

And Send Back Their Compliments to the Dear Friends at Home.

An Interesting Letter From Dr. Seiber.

After leaving you at Janesville we went about the business of getting ourselves and our effects comfortably, and arrived without incident in Chicago at 4:30 p. m. and a number of the party called upon friends. At 10 p. m. we started westward. The first thing was to prepare our beds which was awkward work for some of the gentlemen, yet was soon accomplished and all at rest. When morning dawned we were near Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Many never having before crossed the state of Iowa enjoyed the views very much. One vast, rolling prairie watered by many beautiful rivers. At 7:30 p. m. we arrived at the transfer depot at Council Bluffs where we procured additional tickets and rechecked our baggage, and I assure you we made a fine display as we marched up single file before the ticket window, headed by our delicate little guide, Mr. J. Gibson. Our cars were then run over to Omaha where we were side tracked to remain until 11:30 a. m. the next day. Nearly all of our party visited the city that evening or the following morning and all agreed that it is a fine and prosperous city. At 11:30 a. m. we started westward once more and soon came to the Platte river valley, in which we followed all day. It is a nearly level plain quite well settled, the principal business being stock raising. Large herds of cattle, flocks of sheep, fields of corn and millions of hay stacks, give one the idea that this valley alone can supply the United States with meat and corn for hundreds of years to come.

The next morning we breakfasted at Denver, a city of forty thousand inhabitants and an elevation of nearly six thousand feet. Its growth has been simply marvelous. It has an abundance of water which secures it a great protection of shrubbery. The kindness of the railroad company in conveying us to this beautiful city without extra expense was fully appreciated by all. At 1:30 p. m. we commenced to climb the mountains. As we reached a considerable elevation those with weak lungs began to be seriously affected, one lady had a slight hemorrhage of the lungs and several cases of bleeding at the nose occurred. We arrived at Cheyenne at 7:30 p. m. This the most wonderful city of the plains, having an altitude of over 7000 feet and is supported entirely by cattle ranches and the railroad company. It is said to be the wealthiest city of its size in the world. About 1 o'clock p. m., the 20th, we crossed the summit of the Rocky mountains, 8210 feet above the level of the sea. It was quite cold, rained some and a fire was comfortable. Here we saw the monument built in honor of Oakes Ames, one of the prominent builders of the U. P. R. R.

The morning of the 25th dawned on a barren scene of rough country with but little vegetation and no timber. As we ran down the Rockies we passed several snow sheds and several tunnels, which were neither interesting as scenery or pleasant to ride through. About noon we reached Rock Springs, where the late Chinese massacre occurred. There are about seven hundred left which are protected at present by U. S. troops. The scenery here begins to be a little more interesting. At Granger we stopped for dinner and supplies; milk 40 cents per quart and blue at that.

After leaving here we passed through more snow sheds, one a mile in length. We see the snowy peaks of mountains in the distance, and the road winds so we can see the engines from the rear car. At Hilliard in the Bear River valley we pass charcoal pits and the flame in which wood is floated 24 miles. Our next stop of any length is at Evanston, a town of 1,600 inhabitants, situated on Bear River. It owes its prosperity to the location of the round house and immense coal mines north of it; the Wyoming coal and coke company hewing what it claims to be a valuable mountain of coal. Here are many Chinese. We now enter the Weber valley where our first grand mountain scenery begins. Words cannot describe it. As we go down the valley orchards of peach, pear and apples are common. It is settled mostly by Mormons. Arrived at Ogden at 6 o'clock p. m. Our cars are transferred to the Utah Central railroad and arrived at Salt Lake City at 8:30 p. m., the 27th inst. We procured carriages next morning and visited points of interest in and about the city. The church building of the Mormons first attracted our attention. They consist of the temple, the tabernacle, assembly hall and the Tithing house. The temple and tabernacle are of the most interest. The former, also immense structure of native granite with the foundation walls nine feet thick. This building is being constructed somewhat as Solomon's Temple of old, without the noise of hammers etc., every piece being fitted beforehand. It will not be completed for fifty years. The Tabernacle is a dome roofed building 700 feet long and 135 feet wide. The roof is made mostly of wood and not a nail used except those that fasten the shingles. Ten thousand people can be seated. The guide directed a pin-point hat which could be distinctly heard at the opposite end of the building. The drivers halted at a peach orchard where for a few nickels we took each to the peaches we could carry, the most luscious ones I ever tasted. President Young's grave is marked by the most elegant simplicity. It is covered with a single slab of granite enclosed in about an acre of ground kept beautifully trimmed and green. Amelia's palace is a beautiful building, but you could find its duplicate any day on a residence street in Chicago. Salt Lake hot springs, the museum, Zion's co-operative mercantile institution, and Camp Douglas two miles out of the city were all visited with pleasure. Owing to our limited time and the invalid character of our party we did not visit the lake, which is twenty miles from the city. This city is certainly without a peer and is certainly very orderly and pleasant. Moved into clear C. P. care at Ogden, and started westward once more, at 7:30 p. m. We journeyed through a desert country all night, and arrived at the head of the Humboldt valley at 8:30 a. m., the 29th. We are now a mixed

WORK IN THE MISSION FIELD.

Interesting Reports to the American Board of Foreign Missions.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 15.—At Wednesday's meeting of the American Board of Foreign Missions, Rev. E. K. Alden, D. D., home secretary, reported that during the quarter ending July 31st the number of ordained missionaries has decreased 10 per cent, from 100 in 1861 to 55 in 1891. During the 75 years of its existence the American board has sent out 559 ordained missionaries, of whom 32 were physicians, 43 physicians unordained, and 144 other male assistants, making a total of 705 men. During the same period there have been sent out 1,130 women, 395 of whom were unmarried—a total force of 1,865. This gives as the annual average for the whole period about 25 missionaries and assistant missionaries, 10 men, 8 of whom were ordained, and 15 women.

Rev. A. G. Clark, D. D., senior foreign secretary, made the following report for the 25 years just ended: Of 165 missionaries on the roll in 1866, 52 still remain and have rendered an average service of 23 years. 81 have served an average of 23 years. An interesting feature of the foreign work during the past 25 years is the enlargement of work for women. In 1860 there were 32 women connected with the different missions. A few of the wives of missionaries were attempting to do something for their sex, but no systematic work had been organized. Now there are 101 women with the different missions in charge of 40 families or engaged in field work. The number of young men enjoying the advantages of higher Christian education under the immediate care of cultured women from this country amounts to nearly 1,700, while probably ten times as many more are reared in their homes by missionary ladies, and by the large number of Bible women working under their supervision.

In 25 years there has been an advance in the average age of church members from 19 to 24; of church members from 35,000 to over 23,000; of pupils in common schools from 8,000 to 35,000; of native pastors from 37 to 147, not to speak of the growth of a large and efficient body of native preachers and teachers, and of workers in the evangelization of their people.

By a singular coincidence there has been on the average a five-fold increase during the years in the aggregate of results in the following lines of effort:

1. Higher branches of the faith, counting towns, cities and islands actually occupied; in the number of church members, of pastors, of high schools, seminaries and colleges, and in the contributions of native Christians to the support of their own institutions.
